

driving your business forward.

Senior Workday Time Tracking consultant

Vacancy

28 September 2017

Senior Workday Time Tracking Consultant

Who are we?

Ataraxis is a young and dynamic consulting firm founded in 2012 and currently headquartered in Antwerp, Belgium. Over the years we have grown and expanded our activities to The Netherlands, France, Spain and the UK.

We help companies optimize their HR and/or Financial organization.

At Ataraxis we surround ourselves with positive and ambitious individuals. Every day we face opportunities to help clients optimize their business, enter new markets and turn ideas into reality.

Function

In line with our growing ambitions we currently are looking for an experienced Senior Functional Consultant with Time Tracking expertise to manage the successful design and implementation of enterprise-scale Workday HCM solutions for clients.

Working closely with client business teams, you as a Senior Time Tracking Consultant will drive the scope, definition and delivery of Workday Time Tracking solutions that are fit for purpose. You will also be responsible for coaching more junior consultants and will be involved in pre-sales activities.

A high level of flexibility is required, including willingness to travel to customer sites or to attend Global events.

Which skills would a perfect candidate have?

- You have excellent verbal and written communication skills in English. Knowledge of Dutch, French or Spanish are a plus.
- You hold a master degree.
- You are Workday HCM certified and are specialized in Time Tracking.
- You have at least 3 years' experience with Workday implementations; you have at least 6 years of consulting experience, preferably in the time and attendance context.
- You can advise and translate the clients' requirements into possible configuration options.
- You are a self-disciplined team player.
- You are willing to travel.
- You have an entrepreneurial and proactive mindset.

What's in it for you?

Working at Ataraxis is not a one-way ticket. If you are part of our team, then of course we do have something to offer you. Our open and collaborative corporate culture provides room for initiatives as well as for creativity and for the development of a professional network in your areas of specialization. We greatly support the building of your consulting skills and HR proficiency, through constant learning from contacts, coaching and knowledge transfer from your colleagues. Personal and professional development is key at Ataraxis. Our staff has the opportunity to introduce any training request that will help them move forward in their careers and with our customers. We fully support them wherever we can. We offer our people a competitive salary package with fringe benefits.

Are you ready to take upon a new challenge? Are you ready to join our growing team? Then don't hesitate to send your CV and a motivation letter to hr@ataraxis-services.com. You will hear back from us after review.